Swift House Action Due on 3-Months Jobless Pay Extension

Tapering Off Bill Slated To Get Support

Measure To Provide Benefits for 300,000 Unemployed Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast House passage appeared assured today for a bill to continue temporary federal unemployment benefits for some 300,000 jobless workers who would otherwise lose them April 1.

Although falling short of Democratic proposals, the three-months "tapering-off" measure had bipartisan support as about the best that could be passed before the present jobless pay law dies March 31.

To beat the expiration deadline, leaders sent the bill to the floor under procedure limiting debate to 40 minutes and requiring a two-thirds vote for passage. Its passage today would give the Senate two weeks to complete action.

The bill was opposed as inadequate by some northern Democrats from industrial areas still experiencing substantial unemployment. They called for a one-year extension of the existing program.

House Republicans, who have opposed anything but a sharply limited extension of the program, pronounced the bill acceptable to President Eisenhower.

What the bill does, in essence, is to postpone to July 1 the present April 1 cut-off date. Payment of federal benefits would be continued up to three months more to workers who are otherwise qualified to receive them and who have filed proper claims.

To ease last year's unemployment distress, Congress voted to pay additional benefits to workers who exhausted their benefit rights under the various state unemployment insurance laws. The program was limited to those states which chose to participate.

School Executives Discuss New Bills

Proposed school legislation and consolidation plans topped the discussion list for county school executives at their noon meeting today in the Highway Hotel.

County Supt. D. T. Mills said the school officials were to devote most of the meeting to the raft of bills dealing with school matters and the various plans that have been proposed in connection with consolidation.

He also announced that city and county school representatives will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Supt. Robert S. Brown's office for a discussion on conservation. A possible teachers workshop on conservation will be explored, he said.

Mr. Mills said Discussion Group 21, comprising Marion, Morrow, Delaware, Union, Crawford and Hardin counties, will meet Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in Bun's Restaurant at Delaware. Speakers will be Nick Vigilante and Virgil Raber, both members of the education department at Otterbein College, he said.

Syrians Charge Border Violation

New Charges Add Fuel To Nasser-Kassem Feud

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A new Syrian charge of Iraqi border violation added more fuel today to the burning feud between President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

In the third such accusation in a week, a spokesman for the United Arab Republic's 1st Army claimed that 30 Iraquis thrust across Syria's frontier Sunday and attacked two Syrian guards, wounding one.

Nasser predicted uprisings against the Iraqi premier would continue "as long as dictatorship and the heresay of communism continues" in Iraq.

In Baghdad, leftists called on Kassem to arm the people and purge the army and government of traitors. The idea obviously was to get rid of army officers and others sympathetic to Nasser's aim of Arab unity.

Some 50,000 students and workers paraded through the heart of Cairo Sunday in a demonstration against Kassem and Iraqi Communists. The demonstrators, led by Cairo University students, denounced Kassem's regime and pledged support for Nasser's campaign against Reds in the Middle East.

Leaders of Nasser's National Union — the only political party permitted in the U.A.R.—called on Arabs everywhere to help topple Kassem's regime and "check the Communist cancer in the body of the Arab nation."

The latest Syrian border charge said the Iraqi troops crossed the frontier near Talhamar village, in the general area where U.A.R. officials claimed three Iraqi fighters strafed villages Saturday. Last Tuesday U.A.R. sources charged that Iraqi planes shot up the frontier hamlet of Hamoudiya and destroyed a house.

Cairo newspapers expressed belief the planes charged with Saturday's strafing were chasing rebel refugees from the northern Iraqi oil center of Mosul, site of last week's uprising.

The Iraqi government reported nearly a week ago that the rebellion was crushed, but reliable reports have indicated some fighting is continuing in outlying areas.

AP correspondent Stan Carter visited Mosul over the weekend and said the 100 or so foreigners there were safe. But he reported sizeable casualties in the fighting and many dead in a battle between fleeing rebels and pro-Kassem villagers on the road to Syria.

Assembly May Act Wednesday

Supplemental Benefits Bill Up for House Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Democrat - controlled Legislature gets back to work tonight amid both bouquets and brickbats from organized labor.

Unionists appear pleased over prospects for House passage Wednesday of a Senate-approved supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) bill.

But they criticized a union purity code proposal from Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on which committee hearings start that night.

Up for a Senate vote tonight after weekend adjournment is a House-approved bill to grant radio and television broadcasters the same exemption from disclosing news sources as that now enjoyed by newspaper and wire service reporters.

Proposals due for committee action seek to abolish trading stamps, lower the voting age to 18 years, liberalize workmen's compensation benefits, lift the $65 monthly ceiling on old age benefits, create a fair employment practices (FEP) commission, boost courthouse fees, restore movie censorship, tax soft drinks and increase levies on cigarettes and beer.

The House Finance Committee expects to tackle DiSalle's two-year state operating budget if the big money bill gets back from the printers this week. But an administration-favored bill to abolish capital punishment appears stuck in a House Judiciary Subcommittee.

Representatives got set for an outbreak of caustic debate like that in the Senate a month ago over the labor-backed bill to permit simultaneous payment of SUB and state jobless benefits. The measure is designed to overcome rulings, upheld by the Ohio Supreme Court, that SUB must be deducted from state unemployment compensation. It also would release 25 million dollars in back SUB payments.

Emergency Clause Restored

House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield) said Democrats lacked the votes for an emergency clause to make the SUB bill effective upon enactment, instead of 90 days later. A House committee restored the emergency clause that failed in the Senate for lack of enough Republican support.

But Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan), House minority leader, said Republicans would not vote for the emergency. He said they would support a proposal for payment of back SUB benefits, during a 120-day period, to permit further study of the SUB issue.

Lantz rejected the compromise but delayed a floor vote on the SUB bill from Tuesday until Wednesday to prepare for debate.

DiSalle, defending his proposal for an ethical practices code for unions, insisted the proposal was aimed at individuals and not at the labor movement.

DiSalle asserted state legislation is needed to supplement federal anti-racketeering safeguards. He explained that some practices by local unions are not covered by federal regulations.

A statement issued by the Ohio AFL-CIO Executive Board claimed DiSalle's state code would injure the entire labor movement. The governor seeks to ban union "paper locals" — those without members — and use of welfare funds for private advantage.

Payments Authorized

Payments totaling $492.55 were authorized by County Auditor Maurice C. Clements today to four sub-registrars of vital statistics for birth and death certificate registrations during 1958.

Mr. Clements said 1,383 births and 602 deaths were registered. The sub - registrars are Miss Jeanne Underwood, county health office; Miss Mary E. Kerr, city health office; A. D. Ford of LaRue; Robert H. Allen of Caledonia and Fred W. Gehm of Prospect.

Murder-for-Hire Case Given Jury In Ventura, Calif.

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — The long, hard-fought murder case of Elizabeth Duncan goes to the jury today.

The jury of eight women and four men will start deliberating Mrs. Duncan's fate after hearing Superior Court Judge Charles F. Blackstock's instructions.

They will determine whether Mrs. Duncan, 54, hired two men to kill her son Frank's pregnant bride, Olga, as the prosecution charges.

During the four-week trial the state produced a mass of evidence intended to prove that Mrs. Duncan was so jealous of her son that she arranged to eliminate her daughter-in-law.

The defense contended that two minor criminals, Augustine Baldonado, 26, and Luis Moya, 20, kidnaped Olga in a ransom plot last Nov. 17 and then killed her.

Baldonado and Moya confessed strangling the 30-year-old Canadian nurse and said Mrs. Duncan had promised them $6,000 for the job. Both testified against Mrs. Duncan.

Volunteer Blood

CLEVELAND (AP)—A busload of Toledo residents will donate blood here today during an operation to repair the heart of 12-year-old James Mullins II of Toledo. Dr. Earl B. Kay will perform the operation at St. Vincent Charity Hospital. A rheumatic fever attack enlarged the boy's heart, making the operation necessary. Some 25 to 30 blood donors are necessary for such surgery.

Erie Railroad Head Expects Profit in 1959

CLEVELAND — The Erie Railroad expects to return to a profitable operation in the current year, Harry W. Von Willer, president, said in the annual report now being mailed to shareowners. As previously reported, the Erie had a deficit of $3,668,879 last year on gross revenues of $152,745,890 which were down $20,414,400 from 1957.

The lower revenues reflected the general decline in industrial activity, particularly in the heavy goods area such as iron and steel, automobiles and manufactured goods which make up a large part of Erie's gross.

Operating expenses were sharply reduced to offset the drop in revenues. "However, we could not overcome the wage inflation which resulted from labor contracts signed in 1956," Mr. Von Willer said. Expenses for the year were reduced $13,458,696 or 9.5 per cent from the previous year.

The need for economy was also reflected in the Erie's capital improvement program which totaled $2,853,000 in 1958, compared with an average of 17 million over the past ten years. In anticipation of improved business, the Erie placed a $2,600,000 order for 200 new box cars about two weeks ago, and the road's new $4 million car repair shop at Meadville, Pa., has been upgrading freight cars since last September.

Debt was reduced by $5,817,788 in 1958, and at the end of the year stood at $209,940,440. Most of the reduction was made through payments of maturing equipment obligations.

The report indicated that coordination projects with the DL&W were progressing particularly in combining 75 miles of track between Binghamton and Corning which will save each road about $500,000 a year in operating expenses.

Mr. Von Willer said he expects definite recommendations to be made within the next few months by the committee studying the proposed merger of the Erie, DL&W and D&H Railroads. "We are pleased with the results shown by the studies," he said.

Losses in excess of $2 million annually from commuter operation in the New Jersey area "continue to be one of our most serious problems," the Erie president said. "The situation is becoming more critical each year. Many public agencies have made studies and submitted plans, but to date no constructive action has been taken by local authorities to preserve this essential service. In the meantime, we must find ways of reducing these continuing deficits to insure the financial stability of the road."

the school foundation program during the next two years."

The governor's answer, in the form of a prepared statement, said:

"The truth of the matter is that our total recommendation for the biennium was $427,900,000. This amount is $53,200,000 higher than the previous biennium. Of this amount, $27,500,000 was built in as a result of the operation of the school foundation program.

"Our total increase for all general fund operations was approximately 203 million dollars, of which state assistance to local schools represents more than 25 per cent."

Discussing operations of the Parole Commission with newsmen DiSalle said statute requires members to devote full time to their jobs. He said that in the past, those jobs had not been regarded as requiring full time.

Concerning the expiration on March 31 of Clingan Jackson's term, the governor said the question of time on the job would have to be resolved in making a new appointment.

Jackson, Youngstown Democrat, also is a political writer for the Youngstown Vindicator. He recently announced that he was devoting full time to his commission post.

Failure Can Teach, Says Speaker to Supervisors

"You do a man an injustice when you protect him from failure — you rob him of a lesson."

This was part of a message entitled, "Alibis for Failure," presented at the Marion Industrial Club Supervisors Institute banquet Saturday night.

Addressing representatives of area industries at the 7:30 banquet held at Harding High School was Paul Brees, professor of speech at Wittenberg College.

HE TOLD THE group that after a failure a person should assume the attitude: "I've been whipped, but I'm not beaten."

The speaker gave the three following mental attitudes that lead to failure:

It can't be done.

Is that so? — questioning the ability to accomplish.

Let's go, nothing to it, it will take care of itself.

Common alibis for failure pointed out by Prof. Brees are:

"I never had a chance," "followed the path of least resistance and drifted along," "let well enough alone," "I'm doing the best I can" and "it never happened before."

"A man should profit by his failures," he concluded. "Abraham Lincoln had more than his share of failures, yet today he is our most beloved president."

The speaker was introduced by Emil Lisak, program director for the institute. Mr. Lisak is supervisor of trades and industries at Harding High.

During the evening, Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, presented certificates to 147 industrial personnel who completed the institute.

Companies represented were: Whirlpool, Fulfillment Corp. of America, Eaton Manufacturing Co.; Pollak Steel, Fairfield Engineering Co., Marion Metal Products Co., Alloy Cast Steel Co., Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Marion Engineer Depot, Quaker Oats Co., General Telephone Co. of Ohio, McMillen Feed Mills, Marion Power Shovel Co. and Ohio Edison Co.

Representing the Manufacturers Council were Robert Van Sickle, B. F. Goodrich Co.; H. G. Grigsby, Ohio Edison; and Alfred L. Gentzler, Fulfillment.

Other guests were Eugene H. Moore, the only retired supervisor retaining his membership in the Marion club, and Mike Scott, who accompanied the keynote speaker. Mr. Scott won second place in the state intercollegiate oratorical contest held recently at the College of Wooster.

Presiding for the business meeting was George Schwab.

The institute was sponsored by the Marion Industrial Club, Inc., the local Chamber of Commerce, and the Marion Board of Education.

Ewe Tour Set On Wednesday

Marion and area farmers are invited to attend the first Marion County Brood Ewe tour slated for Wednesday starting at 1 p.m.

The program will begin at the Robert Zieg farm, with 70 head of ewes to be seen. Thirty are three-year-old Targhees, with the balance three year-old crossbreds.

The tour will move to the Cecil Murphy place at 1:45 p.m., where 95 head of purebred and grade Corriedale ewes and 40 head of three-year-olds will be seen. B. J. Boyd will host the program at 2:30 p.m., showing off 99 head of crossbred ewes bred to a Corriedale buck.

And, at 3:15 p.m., the event will conclude with a stop at the Kensel Clutter farm, where 200 head of crossbred ewes have been bred to purebred Hampshire and Suffolk rams.

Mr. Parrott says the entire program should be completed by 4 p.m. Farmers will meet at the Zieg farm for the tour.

Man Receives Sentence On Petty Larceny Count

Dale Gregory, 18, of near Marion, was sentenced to 18 days in jail in Marion Municipal Court Friday on a charge of petty larceny.

He was accused of stealing three automobile transmissions, valued at $30, from the Sims Bros. junk yard on S. Prospect St. Feb. 22. He had been in jail 18 days since his arrest and was released after the sentence was imposed Friday.

A companion of the alleged theft, Corwin Arthur, 20, of 132 John St., was sentenced Feb. 25 to six months in the Columbus Workhouse and was fined $50 and costs.

Marion Man Fined $50 On Shoplifting Charge

Gary Leon Foreman, 21, of near New Bloomington was fined $50 and costs and given a suspended sentence of 90 days in the county jail after pleading guilty to a shoplifting charge in Marion Municipal Court today.

The jail term was suspended on condition of his future good behavior.

Accused in an affidavit signed by W. E. Albright of stealing a carton of cigarettes from the Town and Country IGA Foodliner south of Marion, he was arrested Saturday by the sheriff's office.

and citing examples of famous persons such as Thomas A. Edison who succeeded without extensive formal education.

Hammond said the question is actually "whether there is any limitation of what the state can do where the citizens is concerned and if so where that line strikes through." He said there ought to be "a line over which the state cannot go."

Two witnesses were examined during the morning session. The first, Claybourne Chalfin, Hardin County attendance officer, testified he had visited the two Amish schools and described them as one room buildings with no electric lights, heated by sheet-iron wood stoves and with outside toilets.

The second witness was Aldine Weiss, Jr., superintendent of Ridgeway Local schools. He testified that eight youngsters belonging to the Alvin R. Lambright family were enrolled in Ridgeway's public schools at Thanksgiving time. He said the youngsters generally had the ability but not the background to keep up in studies such as science, English, and history.

His testimony was interrupted frequently by Hammond's objections—six in all.

Today's full dress court action followed preliminary court skirmishing in January in which Judge Arthur D. Tudor overruled Hammond's motion to strike out most of the county school board's contentions. The board originally filed its case Nov. 8 after Supt. Frank Blackburn said his investigation showed the schools failed to meet state standards.

Midwest areas with gusts up to 78 m.p.h. in parts of Michigan.

The snow, powered by the high winds, ranged up to a foot or more and blocked highways in many Midwest areas.

The last of the passenger trains was freed from its snow-bound station by five diesel units coupled together. It was en route from Ashland to Green Bay-Milwaukee-Chicago.

One train with 83 passengers was stuck at Randolph, 80 miles west of Milwaukee, for 10 hours before a giant railroad plow from Milwaukee cleared the tracks and pulled it free.

Another train with 90 passengers en route from Green Bay to Chicago waited at Campbellsport for 12 hours before the plows cleared the rails. A fourth train snowbound at Appleton was pulled free earlier Sunday and continued its trip to Green Bay with 12 passengers.

The gusty winds carried snow flurries and cold air east and southward and rain changed to snow as the cold front swept into the Appalachians. The front crossed Georgia preceded by showers and thunderstorms which pelted areas southward into Florida.

The tornadoes struck the towns of Opal, Owensville and Moko in Arkansas Saturday night. Casualties included one dead in each of the small communities and 11 injured. Twisters also hit areas in southern Illinois.

Betts Offers Bulletins for Farm, Home

WASHINGTON—Would you like to know more about marketing your crops, feeding your livestock or about any of the hundreds of problems involved in farming today? Are you interested in information on the care and upkeep of your home?

In either case, the Department of Agriculture is constantly working in both these fields and a steady flow of literature comes off the presses as a result of their efforts, Rep. Jackson E. Betts, 8th District Congressman, said today. Each is allotted a supply of these publications for their constituents. Rep. Betts has lists of the bulletins and booklets now available. He invites anyone in the 8th District to address a card or a letter to him at Room 453, Old House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C., for one of these lists. Specify whether you would like the "Farm" or "Town" list.

"In a few days you will receive your list," he said. "Check the bulletins you want (please, no more than ten to a customer) and send it back to me. In two or three weeks you should receive your publications."

In commenting on this announcement, Rep. Betts emphasized that it was a standing offer. "I receive requests for these bulletins all through the year," he said "but many people forget that they are available so I think it is a good idea to mention occasionally that I have them."

U.S. Can Hold Soviets, 2 Top Generals Say

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Two top generals have assured Congress the United States has the military muscle to handle any developments in the Berlin crisis. They advised against giving an inch.

The assurances came from Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, in closed-door sessions of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. Censored versions of their testimony were released over the weekend.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said after the hearings that the generals had indicated the United States has adequate plans and strength to support and execute the nation's foreign policy. Johnson made it clear he was speaking of the present.

White told the senators he feels U.S. military forces in Europe are adequate to deal with the Berlin crisis. He said the sending of new military units to Europe now would have no influence to speak of on the outcome of the Berlin situation "because the 7th Army is one of the best trained and best equipped units in the world."

The general said nothing drastic can be done now to strengthen the Air Force's hand in the situation, adding that in general it is to all intents mobilized to within a matter of hours.

Taylor told the subcommittee the country should go to war if necessary for Berlin. But he added he believes "that if we are ready if necessary to go all the way it probably will not be necessary."

Ike

(D-Ark) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in a weekend TV-radio program that the United States should be willing to take Berlin and other problems to a summit conference.

"We have to accept that fact that in the Soviet Union there isn't any second most important man," Fulbright said. "It's just the most important man. To them, a foreign ministers' conference is rather a waste of time because Khrushchev speaks for all of them."

Paying Your Income Tax

Tips on Settling Up With Uncle Sam

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on filing your 1958 income tax return. The deadline is midnight, April 15.

Claim all the exemptions and deductions you're entitled to. They'll reduce your tax.

Report only taxable income, not the nontaxable kind. There's a difference, explained later. Example: Social Security benefits are nontaxable.

First of a Series

Other things to remember:

1. Attach to your return all the W-2 receipts given you by employers for tax withheld from you during 1958.

2. Many people from past years have refunds coming to them but can't get them because the Internal Revenue Service doesn't know who they are or where they live. Their names and addresses were illegible. Write yours clearly.

3. Be sure you have the instruction sheet which IRS is supposed to send every taxpayer. It is full of information.

Still puzzled about some points in your federal income tax? You may find the answers in this and succeeding articles which explain the subject in simple understandable language. Today's installment, first of five, deals with filing procedure and the income you must report.

IT ALSO HAS the tax-table and tax-rate schedule for figuring your tax unless you're one of those with under - $5,000 income who uses form 1040A and lets the IRS figure the tax for you.

Who must file a return?

You must, whether or not you owe tax, if you were under 65 in 1958 — this includes children—and had taxable income of $600 or more.

A person over 65 — you could have reached 65 as late as Jan. 1, 1959 — must file a return if he had taxable income of $1,200 or more, whether or not he owes tax.

If you had income but it was under the amount required for filing —and if tax was withheld from you — you are entitled to a refund. But the only way you can get it is by filing a return and claiming it.

As noted above: a child who had $600 or more taxable income must file a return. The parent is responsible for seeing to it that this is done.

THERE'S AN exception to the rules listed above: a self-employed person must file a return and pay a self-employment tax (really a Social Security tax) if his net earnings were $400 or more in 1958.

Here are examples of taxable income which must be reported:

Wages, salaries, rents, bonuses, fees, interest on savings accounts and U.S. savings bond, dividends from stocks (so-called dividends from building and loan associations on savings accounts are actually interest and must be reported as such), tips, gambling winnings, commissions, profits from sale or exchange of property, strike benefits paid by unions, profits from a farm, business or profession, income from estates or trusts, severance pay.

HERE ARE examples of nontaxable income which doesn't have to be reported as income:

State or federal Social Security benefits; unemployment compensation paid by a state (although supplemental unemployment benefit payments from a company-financed supplemental unemployment benefits funds are taxable income); public assistance payments to the blind; life insurance proceeds paid because of the death of the insured (unless the policy was transferred to you for a valuable consideration); gifts in money or anything of value for which you performed no service; interest on state and municipal bonds; subsistence and rental allowances to members of the armed forces; veteran benefits from the Veterans Administration to veterans and their families; disability pay and pension pay received by veterans for service connected and nonservice connected disabilities.

LABOR OF LOVE. August Wieding took five months to complete this model of his West Berlin parish church. He used contents of 300 match boxes and fir cones.

8,000 Visit Festival

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Despite windy weather, a crowd estimated at 8,000 turned out Sunday at the Geauga County Maple Festival. That was 3,000 more than last weekend.

Fire Reports

INHALATOR CALLS

(Saturday)

7:37 p.m. to Big Island, residence of Clyde Watkins, 54, who became ill. The inhalator was not used. He was taken to Marion General Hospital in the fire chief's car, treated and released.

(Sunday)

7:38 p.m. to 328 Reed Ave. where Capie C. Cooper, 64, suffered a heart attack. The inhalator was operated 10 minutes and he was taken to General Hospital in the chief's car. His condition this morning was listed as "fair."

More Than 250 Attend First Firemen's Dance

The firemen's dance held Saturday night at the United Steelworkers Hall on Uncapher Ave. drew between 250 and 300 persons, Dave Strobel, dance chairman, reported today.

Patrons danced to the music of Al Wayne and his orchestra.

Members of the committee assisting Mr. Strobel in planning the first annual dance of the Marion City Fire Department were Don Coldwell, Paul Sifritt and John Lodwig. Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt acted as adviser.

Dies of Injuries

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Billard Shell, 30, of Detroit, died in Memorial Hospital Sunday of injuries he received March 5 when his car crashed into the rear of a truck on U.S. 25 north of here. His wife, Vivian, 25, and their two children, 7 and 2, are in fair condition in the hospital.

Union Rejects Contract Offer

Utility Strike Goes Into Its Third Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The strike of 1,300 employes of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. moved into its third week today and no hint of a settlement has been evidenced.

Sunday, by an overwhelming majority—845-90—the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical workers rejected the company's latest contract offer.

The rejection came a day after Federal Mediator H. J. Montoney recessed contract talks for an indefinite period.

The secret ballot vote by Locals 1466 and 832 turned down an offer of a 4½ per cent general wage increase and upward adjustments of wage rates in 10 job classifications. Earlier the company had offered a 3½ per cent wage hike.

The union continues to demand a 6 per cent general increase, plus a 10-cent hourly boost for top linemen.

Under the old contract, which expired Feb. 28, wages ranged from $1.69 to $3.28 an hour.

The company serves customers in 23 central state and southern Ohio counties. Service has been continued throughout the strike by supervisory personnel.

Crawford Cancels Junior Fair Night

BUCYRUS — Members of the Crawford County Junior Fair Board have voted not to hold a Junior Fair Night at the county fair here in August, it was reported today.

Paul Pfeifer of Holmes-Liberty has been elected president of the board. Other officers are: vice president, Jerry Harrer of Lykens; secretary, Pat Fischer of Holmes-Liberty; assistant secretary, James Hill of Mount Zion, and reporter, Gene Luidhardt of Sulphur Springs.

While the Junior Fair Night event will not be held a Junior Fair king and queen again will be chosen to reign during fair week. The king and queen will present awards and trophies at the time of judging.

Whisky Still Raided

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A still in Hambden Twp.—the first found operating in Geauga County in two years—is out of business. Sheriff Louis A. Robusky and four deputies raided a house there Sunday and found a 65-gallon capacity still in the attic and corn mash in the basement. Four persons were arrested.

Miss Virginia O'Dowd's second grade has been comparing the growth of boys and girls and plants. The students made a list of the things that both people and plants need for growth. One of their observations had been that both people and plants need food, light, water, rest and protection for healthy growth and development.

—Silver St.—

Mrs. Ilo Wymer's special class at Silver St. is studying transportation. Students have discussed progress in water travel and have learned about different kinds of water transportation from the primitive raft to the modern ship. Chart stories about the different boats were written. These stories then were copied and illustrated by the students for their own individual transportation books. Large pictures of the different ships were put on the bulletin board in the first floor corridor.

Mrs. Catherine Brown's first grade had a baseball game with phonics last week. Cards showing colored objects were held up. Huffman Keeps City Schools Going

Maintenance One of Top Tasks of Business Director Here

This is the fourth in a series concerning the duties of administrative staff members of the Marion public school system.

By JUNE ROSEBERRY
Marion Star Education Editor

The term director of school business affairs might suggest an office job, but E. Paul Huffman can testify that the position is far more than this, for most of his time is spent away from his desk at the School Administration Building.

Where do most of his working hours take him? The answer is in the buildings of the Marion public school system. He supervises their operation and plant maintenance.

MR. HUFFMAN often is referred to as a custodian of all real school properties. He is a trouble-shooter who seeks to avert serious difficulties at any of the buildings. And when problems do develop, he is on the spot to supervise their correction as soon as possible.

"I'm responsible for the maintenance of 606,074 square feet of floor space in city public schools and the 80 acres owned by the school system," he said.

The business manager makes routine inspections of the buildings to see that physical facilities are in top shape.

When high waters threatened to snuff out heat in some of the structures during the January flood, Mr. Huffman dispatched maintenance men to these centers to prevent damage to the heating systems. Their work continued into the evening hours, and as the supervisor, he remained on the job with them.

His job demands knowledge in several areas. To supervise operations and handle maintenance as well, he must know carpentry, plumbing, masonry, electricity and contracting, for example.

DURING THE last few months he has kept a close watch on construction of the addition at N. Main St. School. As a representative of the Marion City Board of Education, Mr. Huffman worked first with the architect in setting up plans for the school facility.

He drew up the bid proposals and planned their advertisement. Then, with the help of the board and school superintendent, he selected the low bidders to do the necessary jobs.

Asked if he spent considerable time at the construction site while the building was going up, he answered with a twinkle in his eye: "It depended on what was taking place."

"If a man was painting a wall, it was useless for me to supervise the job. But if something important like laying footers for the foundation was going on, I was sure to be there."

As manager of maintenance and operation in the city's public school buildings, he also supervises activities of the force of non-instructional personnel.

HE EMPLOYES all persons in these classifications, pending approval of the board of education, and assigns them to their work responsibilities. These wage earners include custodians, cleaning assistants, truck drivers and maintenance men.

Custodians handle cleaning responsibilities run errands, fire the furnaces and lock and unlock buildings at the designated times.

Maintenance men handle jobs in the schools which require special tools. They are on call at any time to make these repairs. Five men work full-time in this capacity, doing anything from painting to plumbing. Two more are employed part-time in maintenance and spend the balance of their working hours delivering supplies from the Administration Building to the schools.

Mr. Huffman requisitions all non-instructional materials ranging from mimeograph paper and cleaning chemicals to fuel.

He orders supplies for two to three months in advance, exercising care in selection of those which will do the best job.

UNLIKE MOST school officials, Mr. Huffman's work does not slack off in the summer months. For it is during this time that major repairs are made and the big housecleaning jobs take place.

In anticipation of these summer activities, the director of business affairs and Supt. Robert S. Brown tour buildings together each spring and review repair and improvement requests submitted by the principals and custodians.

Projects are authorized with the approval of the school head and financed through the operation and maintenance section of the annual school budget.

The amount of money necessary each year under this category is estimated by Mr. Huffman and submitted to the superintendent for inclusion in the budget.

Throughout the year, too, the director of business affairs works closely with the superintendent, informing him of activity.

JUST A ROUTINE CHECK. E. Paul Huffman, director of business affairs for Marion public schools, enters a school building to check physical facilities and their condition. The official is responsible for maintenance and operation of all school buildings and grounds, a job which keeps him away from his desk most of the time.

Coming PTA Activities

Robert S. Brown, superintendent of Marion public schools, will discuss his summer trip to Russia when he speaks at a meeting of the Oakland PTA Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Scheduled as group leaders are Louis B. Conkle, Dr. Philip W. Smith, Dudley B. Reed, the Rev. Stewart Labat and Dr. Frederick Rea.

A special program will be held when the Caledonia Community Club meets Tuesday at 8 p.m.

—:—

Highlights of a recent trip to Japan will be enumerated when Marvin Adams, superintendent of the Crawford County Children's Home, speaks Tuesday at 8 p.m. for the Martel Community Club meeting. The high school band will be featured on the program.

—:—

Exhibits submitted by students in the Science Fair at Prospect will be on display during the PTA meeting Thursday night at the school. The public is invited to attend.

—:—

A New Bloomington PTA meeting is scheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m.

Two panel discussions will be held when the Pleasant PTA meets Thursday night. Miss Martha Dallman from Ohio Wesleyan University's Education Department will moderate the panel on the subject "How Can the School and Home Best Work Together To Develop the Child." Panel members will be Miss Dorothy Yocom, Mrs. George Balsley, Bruce Emery and Dr. Henry Blount.

The junior high and high school panel will consider parent-child relationships and problems which arise over dating, driving, money and other things. Dick Farst, president of the Senior High School Activities Council, will narrate this discussion topic. The panel will consist of two students, two parents and two teachers.

The LaRue PTA will hold its annual Spring Festival Friday night, beginning with supper at 5:30 p.m. Among the entertainment features of the evening will be a talent program, fish pond, candy booths, guessing games, white elephant sale, fortune teller, book fair and cake walk.

—:—

Slides of his summer trip to Russia will be shown by Robert S. Brown, superintendent of Marion public schools, when he addresses the Olney Ave. PTA Thursday night.

—:—

Election of officers for the 1959-60 school year will be held when the Mark St. PTA meets Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school. Devotions will be conducted by the Rev. Jerry Lyle of Bucyrus. Special music will be by the sixth grade and a film on mental health entitled "The Family Circle" will be shown. A discussion on the subject will follow.

Missile Program Speedup Ordered

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Acceleration of an already speeded up missile program was announced at the Army Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal Sunday.

The missile involved is the Pershing and the extra speed-up is in the development of its weapons system.

"Technology is advancing so rapidly that we cannot afford the sequential, time-consuming approach," said Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris.

All phases of the Pershing development are being tackled at once, said Medaris, as opposed to the old system whereby a missile was planned, manufactured, tested, and returned for modifications.

The new program extends to the training program too. Medaris said this calls for early use of troop trainees in the missile test firing phase.

Fogt at Conference

Norman W. Fogt, director of public relations and research in Marion public schools, is attending a meeting of school supervisory personnel at Ohio University in Athens today.

He is scheduled to speak on the program, enumerating research projects carried out by Marion public schools. The conference theme is "Action Research."

Charges Dismissed

Charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct were dismissed in Marion Municipal Court Friday against Helen Vaughn, 31, of 822 Kenton Ave.

The charges were dismissed for lack of prosecution and evidence to convict. She was arrested last fall by city police.

Getting Acquainted With Hawaii

Naturally, all of us want to make Hawaii feel at home in the Union and will try to do so to the limit of our ability and imagination.

The first thing will be to get acquainted, and in this respect the Hawaiians will have a marked advantage. Everybody wants to visit them. They have well advertised attractions.

Their climate is, of course, thrice-blessed. It does not snow, and it does not get cold. Sometimes it blows, and sometimes it rains—but just enough to create some of the world's most gorgeous flowers and greenery. The women are beautiful the men are good looking, and the music is languorous. There is no race prejudice, because the races are crisscrossed in such a complex way that no one dares to hate anyone else.

There is the surf pounding on the beaches, the hula is pulsating 'neath the royal palms and pineapples grow all around. One way and another, Hawaii will give the Union something it needs, now that almost everybody has learned about Florida and California — an exotic state. All of us will count the days until we can wear a lei and ride a surfboard. From now on, the pineapple will be a patriotic dish.

But will the Hawaiians want to get acquainted with the other states and their denizens? It is not an unfair question to ask, because there is no denying the fact they live off by themselves, whereas the rest of us have been accustomed to move freely from one state to another in our travels. A trip to Hawaii has a prize at the end of the journey. But how will Hawaiians feel about a trip to Ohio, for instance?

Would they like to see what it is like when we are having a blizzard, with the beautiful snow forming huge piles called "drifts"?

Would they like to see how we heat our houses and keep ourselves warm when the temperature drops to minus zero? Would they like to see a sleet storm?

Seriously, they probably would like to see an apple orchard in bloom, a sugar grove during a spring snowstorm, acres of hybrid corn starting to tassel, a dairy farm, some of our factories and a late September landscape.

They would like to see our schools, our colleges and some of our better looking stores. And they would like to see Ohio's good looking women and its handsome men, though if they stay put they will see a great many of them in the course of welcoming tourists on incoming planes and ships.

The idea is that we are in the Union together now and must learn to live with one another. Since first impressions are important, we'll promise not to arrive in Hawaii during the typhoon season if the Hawaiians will promise not to drop in on us during a winter storm.

Wait until after the middle of June, when it will be summer.

Home Building Boom?

The predictions made by local officials in this newspaper Saturday that there will be increased building and real estate activity in Marion this year provide another optimistic note for the 1959 business picture here.

Judging by the number of people having houses built, or planning to build them, the predictions of a strong home construction upsurge seem sound.

With a couple of notable exceptions there has been little large-scale building here, but new homes have been springing up steadily the last four or five years.

The housing situation was extremely "tight" here as recently as 1955 but it has been alleviated greatly, in no small part by the southeast suburban developments.

A marked increase in building creates local business in many fields, and it also provides a strong attraction for new industry to locate in Marion.

Marion has lost new plants over the years because there were not enough homes here to handle a sudden influx of workers.

That situation now has been eased, and from all indications construction in 1959 will improve our housing position still further.

Maturity Has Its Charms

State of Preparedness

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Out of the intense soul searching forced on this country by the Berlin crisis have come self-confident revelations about the present and deeply troubling questions about the future.

These revelations—to give a total picture—have had to be fitted together from various statements by President Eisenhower and his top military advisers.

THEY MIGHT prove erroneous in case of war—since the Soviets then would have to be heard from—but here they are:

1. Eisenhower himself last week said we certainly won't fight a land war with the Soviets. They outnumber us on the ground. "Why in the world would we dream of fighting a ground war?" he asked. "You have got to have other means."

2. Earlier this month Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said we have "offensive superiority over the Soviets at this time."

3. Since we could not win on land but have offensive superiority then the only way we could fight a war is with planes using nuclear bombs.

EISENHOWER has not ruled out nuclear weapons. McElroy has emphasized American dependence on its bombers.

But Democratic leaders—even though seeming to accept the idea of American superiority at present—question our ability to stay ahead.

They question Eisenhower's wisdom in not putting more money and effort into defense—looking years ahead—since the Soviets are pushing missile development and missiles may make bombers obsolete.

This is the troubling question implicit in their criticism.

Even though the Soviets may be afraid to start all-out war now, what happens if and when they gain superiority? Will they blackmail us into one surrender after another?

Last week the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which has been quizzing top military leaders behind closed doors, released some heavily censored portions of the testimony.

SEN. LYNDON B. Johnson of Texas, chairman of this group and leader of the Senate Democrats, said the military chiefs agreed they had adequate plans and strength to meet the Berlin Crisis.

The Soviets have demanded the Allies pull their troops out of West Berlin and leave it a free city in the heart of Communist East Germany.

But Johnson, apparently accepting the idea this country is in adequate military shape now, said the adequacy applied only to the "immediate situation."

Then, trying to seperate what we might be able to do now from what we might not be able to do in the future, he added: "Now and down the road are two different things."

The testimony of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, showed he agreed with Eisenhower we could not cope with the U.S.S.R. on the ground. He was asked if the only alternative to ground war is all-out war.

ALTHOUGH all-out war would mean nuclear war, "We must be willing to go all the way down the road," Taylor said. "We can't turn back at any point."

Even Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, appears to accept American superiority at this time. He has spoken of this country's ability to devastate Russia in a war now.

But he seems less confident about the future, saying "there is no question the Soviet Union is ahead of us in the missile field."

Nevertheless, the Auto Is Here To Stay

There will be, in all probability, at least one more crippling snowstorm before the roses bloom. Some of Ohio's heaviest snowfalls have occurred in April.

Before the grief that goes with snowfall has ceased for another year, an acknowledgement should be made. Most of the grief has been brought on us by the automobile. Before we depended on it to get where we wanted to go in a hurry, a snowstorm was just a detail of winter weather.

Occasionally, a railroad train was stalled if the snow was deep enough. But there was no general panic until the automobile came along with its spinning wheels, skidding proclivities and extended range of transportation.

The last was to prove the most troublesome. Before the automobile, no one planned to go any further than the range of a horse, counting the distance there and back. What was to become a half-hour spin in an automobile was an all-day trip in a horse and buggy and a stiff journey on horseback. No one went anywhere in much of a hurry in the horse era.

The range was not shrunk to any important extent by snow. This may surprise the generation that hasn't yet discovered how clever the old-timers were, but they had a trick of taking off wheels, and putting on runners when it snowed; a horse pulled one as easily as the other.

Life went on as usual. Schools stayed open. No one waited for the snow plow. It would have been against the general welfare to fool with snow in the streets, because the idea was to pack the snow into a slippery mat for bobsleds and sleigh. They made special ice caulks for horseshoes, by the way.

Another thing they did — and this was clever too — was to plow sidewalks. A sturdy horse, a driver and a wedge-shaped plow could clean off every sidewalk in a small town before time for lunch.

There was no air of emergency, no gulping with anxiety for fear the roads and streets would be snowed under, no cancelling of engagements and no squealing of spinning wheels — the 20th century shriek of frustration.

Snow used to be fun. Everybody talked about how it was good for the wheat, instead of how it was bad for automobiles. No doubt about it, the horseless carriage is here to stay, but there are snowy days when millions wonder why.

Policy Without Proof

By Raymond Moley

It is apparently the settled policy of this congressional majority that with large deficit spending the compensating revenues can be gotten from a faster rate of increase of the gross national product. This has been aptly called the "spend-yourself-rich" theory.

Since this Congress with its liberal majority will shape the platform and argument of the Democratic party in 1960, the Cabinet committee studying inflation and the President's 44-member committee of business men considering economic trends might well draw the issue on this specific point.

If they do, they will find plenty of material to disprove such a concept of national economic planning. Certainly, there are no historical facts to prove it.

The data on the subject in what follows were prepared for me by a competent economic analyst, Dr. Julius Hirsch.

The Hirsch figures go back to the period between 1903 and 1913 years of healthy growth in national wealth and general prosperity, with the exception of parts of 1907 and 1908. In 1903, the national income was $19,400,000,000. In 1913, it was 31 billion. This represented in the average of those years a growth of almost 6 per cent per year.

NOTE THAT THIS was without any purposeful government spending in those years, because no one seriously thought of the new economic theory of spending to increase wealth. During those years there was some inflation, however, since the cost of living increased by about 7 per cent. Employment improved. In 1903 there were about one million unemployed. In 1913 the figure was the same but because of a growing population there was a great increase of the working force.

After the abnormal years of the World War and the short boom and depression that followed, prosperity returned in 1922.

Then from 1922 to 1929 the Gross National Product (a calculation devised at that time to supplant the national income figures) increased from $69,900,000,000 to $99,400,000,000—on average more than 6 per cent per year.

During that period taxes were reduced and a considerable part of the national debt was paid off. The cost of living remained practically the same. Unemployment was at a minimum throughout. Again, there was no urge to increase government spending to stimulate the economy. Politics had not discovered economics. Nor had some economists such as John Maynard Keynes yet launched the get-rich-through-spending theory.

Now let us look at some of the years during which some of the "new" economic theorists such as Leon Keyserling were in the saddle, with President Truman taking his cue from them.

IN THE YEARS 1946-1949 inclusive, the Gross National Product increased in inflated prices by almost 23 per cent, but in "constant" prices (which means in prices of 1947) only by 3.5 per cent. In inflated prices, the average increase per year was 7.6 per cent, but in real progress it was an average of 1.1 per cent per year.

The cost of living during this period went up by almost 21 per cent, or 6.9 per cent a year on average. Unemployment also increased. This was in spite of fairly high federal expenditures. At the end of 1948, recession started.

Then came the Korean War. Federal spending increased from $39,600,000,000 in 1950 to 74 billion in 1953. In those years the GNP during heavy inflation rose by almost 28 per cent, or by more than 9 per cent a year.

However, measured in constant dollars the GNP in those years rose only by 11.4 per cent—3.7 per cent a year. Our federal expenditures increased by 87 per cent in the whole period, or by 29 per cent yearly.

This was a large price to pay in federal expenditures to produce so small a GNP. But inflation took its toll. The cost of living went up 14 per cent. Thus, even during a war the increase in the resources subject to taxation fell far behind federal spending, while the chief burden fell, through inflation, on fixed incomes and other stationary values.

The only possible conclusion is that while inflation can be accelerated by federal spending, the tax resources cannot keep pace. The result is felt by taxpayers and by holders of fixed values.

Government spending policies can produce inflation but they cannot produce real wealth to equalize the losses involved in such inflation.

Don't Knock March

By Truman Twill

Except for the happenstance that I was born in March, I have no reason to be more partial to it than September, say, or July.

But as an instinctive champion of the underdog, I resent the way March is slandered by climatic critics. They have made it their favorite whipping boy of the months.

They say the wind blows too hard and that when the wind blows it is too cold.

They complain about the thawing and freezing, which is hard on growing things, mainly rose bushes.

They are put out because March is a month of sickness and misery—the end of the lines for people who finally run out of gas and succumb to viruses and microbes.

They wail when it rains, which it does more frequently than not. When it snows, they claim they are being victimized beyond reason.

They grow impatient because the things that are not going to occur until April anyway do not occur prematurely in March. To hear them tell it, March should mark the beginning of spring fever, when in fact it is famous only for the winter fantods.

They feel aggrieved when gales prune their trees for nothing and blow shingles off the roof of the house. They do not like it when their weather-weakened TV masts are bent over and blown askew.

They regard every sleet storm, blizzard, deluge and gust as a personal insult. In defiance, they buy some union sets to prove that nature can be defied, and for what bitter satisfaction they can find in probing the inhospitable earth they bury sweet peas and some lettuce seed. But they have nothing good to say about March.

To hear its critics talk about it, no one would guess that it is the most important month of the year, not only because it is the birthday month of so many outstanding men and women but because it is the month when things start to grow.

This is as it should be — this growing — because from time immemorial March has ushered in the lifetimes of some of the sweetest, most deserving, most farsighted, most useful people who ever lived.

They — we — are the salt of the human race. Our heritage has made us more understanding, more perceptive, gentler and wiser than the ordinary run of people born in less favored months.

Because we are arithmetically obvious, being the offspring of parents who began to begat us in the preceding June, the month of weddings and flowers, it is our happy lot to be in harmony with the human race.

We have special insight into the foibles and follies of less privileged humans born in lesser months.

We are rugged, too, because it has been proved medically that babies born at the end of winter gain enough momentum in the first few months of life to withstand the blistering heat of their first summer without wilting.

Everything about our birth in March is in our favor, and we resent the way critics slander it. They should guard their tongues.

Election Officials Oppose 4-Year Plan

Officers of the Ohio Association of Election Officials report its members in all 88 counties are opposed to the attempt in the Legislature to permit voters to remain registered for four years without casting ballots.

We agree with the election officials. They are the professionals in this business.

Ohio law now provides that an elector who does not go to the polls for two successive general elections is removed from the registration list. In order to vote again, he must re-register.

A proposal in the 103rd Ohio General Assembly would permit a voter to miss four general elections before he would be required to re-register.

Spearheading the attack on the four-year proposal are James Seccombe, Stark County Election Board clerk who is president of the Ohio Association of Election Officials, and Jennings B. Cole, Scioto County board clerk who is chairman of the association's legislative committee. Both men have served many years as working election officials and know the headaches of registration.

Looking at it from their own point of view, they argue that too much "dead wood" would accumulate in the registration files in a four-year period; that more filing space and equipment would be needed to carry the inactive names; that precinct lists would grow too large, resulting in unnecessary division and rearrangement of precincts.

Those points are the election officials' headaches. They deserve public consideration.

But the officials do not stop there. They argue the public's side, too: That voters should take enough interest in their local and state governments to cast their ballots in every election; that a four-year registration would encourage too many lazy voters to go to the polls only when a president is to be elected; that the so-called off-year elections would get even fewer voters than they do now, which already are too few.

Voting in America is not only a right and a privilege, it is a duty. Ohio should have no four-year registration law which would make it easier for more people not to vote.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dear Ike: What goes with this situation where Secretary Dulles is sick and Neil McElroy, secretary of defense, may retire soon just when he has mastered his tough job and is "in the pink" for the main bout? Mr. McElroy is in the soap business and took the job as a patriotic duty with the understanding he would have to return to business after a short run. But is soap so important? "It will all come out in the wash" is a good slogan for the soap industry but it is no good as a slogan in a campaign for national survival.

Neil is not a man to take a powder (or a soap powder). He gets $258,000 a year when on his soap job and only $25,000 when working for Uncle Sam. Why a man is worth ten times less working for the Free World than working for the well-washed world is hard to dig but anyhow it is important that he "stay for the second show," especially since he has just about completed his warmup.

If nothing can be done to sidetrack soap for world freedom and if a corporation's personal war against infrequent bathing comes ahead of the war against Soviet domination, it just goes to show that it is toying with security to put men in top jobs for sprints instead of distance events.

When Hollywood Awards those "oscars," the one for the best supporting performance of the year should go to the fish in "The Old Man and the Sea." This enormous blue marlin should in fact get "best performance." No Hollywood actor in history ever gave such a strenuous, all-out dramatic, pulse-stirring show. As it fought for two hours, leaping, diving and twisting for survival it thrilled audiences as few actors have done. And remember these points: (1) It had no rehearsals; (2) it used no double; (3) at no time was it thinking of the next morning's dramatic notices.

THE DAMSEL POSSESSED

"And it came to pass, as we went to prayer, a certain damsel possessed with a spirit of divination met us, which brought her masters much gain by soothsaying."

—Acts 16:16

The writer of the Book of Acts does not tell us what kind of fortune teller this girl was.

In the time of the Apostles, there were many methods used for soothsaying. These included use of such things as sand, mirrors, smoke, rings, keys, sieves, and numbers.

In the original Greek text of this passage, it reads that the damsel was possessed with "a spirit of Python." This seems to mean that the people of Lydia, where the girl lived, believed that her power to indicate future events came from the god Apollo. Pythius was another name for Apollo.

Whatever kind of spirit worked through the child, her masters soon put her magical ability to profitable use.

They kept her at the intersection of a busy street in her city and urged passersby to let her read their futures. Many of the people, anxious and superstitious about their affairs, stopped to listen to the voice of the spirit that whispered to the girl.

For this advice they paid her masters well.

When the Apostle Paul and his traveling companion, Silas, passed through the street where the damsel offered her services, she followed after them, saying:

"These men are the servants of the most high God, which shew unto us the way of salvation."

The unfortunate girl's keepers tried to call her back. But she eluded them and continued to dog the footsteps of the apostles.

"And this she did many days. But Paul, being grieved, turned and said to the spirit, I command thee in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her. And he came out of her in the same hour."

When the girl's masters found that she could no longer foretell the future, they seized Paul and Silas and brought them before the magistrates of the city.

There they accused them of teaching unlawful customs. The judges found them guilty and ordered them beaten and thrown into prison.

Nothing more is told in Scripture of the strange girl who had listened to the secret voice of Apollo.

County Officials Plan Pay Boost Discussion

Elected county officials scheduled a meeting with the county commissioners for 2 p.m. today to discuss salary increases for their employes.

Pay raises for Courthouse employes, who have gone without salary hikes for 2½ years, were turned down by the commissioners in the 1959 appropriations resolution.

Officials were informed that, although the raises were turned down, one elected official recently granted increases of between $15 and $35 to all employes in his office.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: After reading the letter from the mother who was on the verge of a nervous breakdown because her daughter got into trouble, I would like to ask a question.

How in the world can a parent allow a 15-year-old girl to date a 20-year-old man then be horrified or "half crazy" (as she put it) when she learns the girl is in a family way?

Apparently this woman does not realize she was derelict in her duty. Mothers give me an indescribable pain when they moan, "I did everything in the world for my daughter and now she thanks me by bringing disgrace to the family."

I'm not excusing the young man or the girl. The final responsibility rests with the individual. But for heaven's sake, young girls need parental guidance and discipline.

Teen-agers must learn some things from experience but it makes no sense to let a child play with a loaded pistol to teach him that bullets can be dangerous.

You may add to this letter if you wish, Ann Landers, but please print it.—MRS. W.D.G.

Dear Mrs. W.D.G.: I can add nothing to your excellent letter except a hearty "Amen" and my thanks to you for writing.

You're Welcome

Dear Ann Landers: This problem that my son is having is just as important as any love affair. Please help him. He needs it for his term paper.

He must find the words "unmitigated" and "exhaustive" in two separate sentences in some newspaper. We've both searched for weeks and apparently no one uses these words but his English teacher.

You are our last hope. Can you use them in your column? It would help a lot. Thank you in advance. —BLEARY-EYED MOTHER.

Dear Bleary - Eyed Mother: After exhaustive research I could find neither of these words in the four newspapers I read daily.

I'm afraid, Mother, it will be a cold day in the Mojave dessert when you find "unmitigated" in a newspaper. Although this is a perfectly respectable Anglo - Saxon word not many people know what it means. You're welcome.

Fair Exchange

Dear Ann: My husband and I get along fine. It's the relatives on both sides who are causing the trouble.

My sister has a teen-age son. Her husband left her without a goodbye or a penny. She works to support herself and the boy.

I feel sorry for her because she's a nice person but she's as foolish as they come.

I've loaned her money time and again for things she says she "must have." Then I learn she has bought costume jewelry or some knick-knack. For weeks they lived on peanut - butter sandwiches so she could make a down payment on a new living room set.

My husband's sister is the other problem. She comes over every afternoon to chat. I like to chat, mind you, but not for five hours. When I start to fix dinner she says, "My that smells good! You're such a wonderful cook. I don't have a thing in the house for dinner. Shall I call Sam and tell him to meet me here?"

How can I say no?

Our grocery bill is easily 30 per cent higher because of them. After dinner she and Sam park in front of the TV until we're dead. When I complain to my husband about HIS sister, he starts in on MY sister.

We've been married 13 years and never had any trouble. I see storm clouds gathering. What do you suggest?—MRS. F.P.

You KNOW the solution (as many people do who write for advice) — you just need to hear it from someone outside the family or see it in print.

Tell your husband you'll trade him your sister for his sister. In other words, promise you won't lend that nice but foolish woman any more money if he'll agree that his sister and her husband be put on an invitation only basis. Then give them the word.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pianist Ends Concert Season

George Feyer Presents Classical, Modern Music

By JUNE ROSEBERRY

With a skillful blending of imaginative style and keyboard talent, George Feyer climaxed the Marion Concert Association's season Sunday afternoon with a program which appealed to every taste.

The guest artist capitalized on today's demands in music to bring his audience of 800 at Harding High School the favorites of yesteryear and those of today.

His distinct style and touch won him the favor of his audience. At the concert's conclusion he was called back for two encores, playing "Espana" and "Nola."

Opening the program with the "Warsaw Concerto," Feyer moved into such popular favorites as selections from "The King and I," "Oklahoma" and "My Fair Lady."

He flavored his offerings with medleys from his recordings, "Echoes of Paris" and "Echoes of Childhood," frequently jumping back to traditional numbers such as "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2" and "Malguena."

At his beckoning, agile fingers sped over the keys with lightning-like precision or gracefully danced to a pastoral theme. A sensitive touch, tonal variations and trills conveyed the personality of his arrangements.

He established a personal relationship with his listeners in announcing his selections. And so relaxed was the artist, that frequently he would hum or sing along to the phrases from his numbers.

One of the high points of the program, both in entertainment and humor, was his rendition of favorites from "My Fair Lady" as he felt they would have been played by masters such as Bach, Mozart, Verdi, Strauss and Rachmaninoff.

Youth of Lecture-Recital members serving at the door were Sarah Boger, Joyce Hite, James Baker and Ronald Tarvin.

Dulles Leaves Hospital For Brief Visit to Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles left the hospital again Sunday for a visit to his home and a ride through a nearby park.

It was the third time Dulles, 71, had left Walter Reed Army Hospital since his hernia operation Feb. 13. A recurrence of cancer was discovered then.

The secretary has been receiving almost daily X-ray treatments for his cancer. Doctors have said they expect to continue the treatments for about another week.

Telephone Co. Directories To Be Distributed

More Than Thousand Changes Made in Listings for District

More than 22,000 new 1959 telephone directories will be received this week by customers of the General Telephone Co. of Ohio in Marion, Green Camp, Harpster, LaRue, Morral, Nevada, Prospect, Richwood and Waldo.

Andrew C. Carbery of Marion, district commercial manager, said the directories have shed their light green exterior and have taken on a gay arrangement of color and illustrations which rival the slick color magazines. The background of the cover is a robin-egg blue and the front and back carry illustrations of various types of telephone services that are available.

"All numbers in the easily read, three-column book are again interlocked, meaning that all customers in Marion and the surrounding communities are listed in one alphabetical section," he added. In addition, there are more classifications of businesses in the expanded yellow pages, he said.

He suggested that the new directory be referred to for assurance of prompt and accurate service as there are more than a 1,000 telephone number changes and additions reflected for Marion area customers.

The directory also contains the new telephone numbers for all LaRue subscribers which went into effect in August simultaneous with conversion to automatic dial telephone service there.

The inside back cover of the directory has space for frequently called numbers and pages 1 through 5 offer information to simplify handling emergency and service calls as well as long distrance calling.

Distribution will begin today and is expected to be completed this week, Mr. Carbery said. All customers are asked to dispose of their old directories after making sure there are no valuable addresses, telephone numbers or notes inserted within the pages.

To Your Good Health

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Fibroid Tumors of Uterus Are Fairly Common

The enormous number of inquiries about fibroid tumors (or just "fibroids,") gives me notice in no uncertain terms that it is time we discussed this problem.

Dr. Molner

It has been discussed here before, but evidently it can stand a little more detailed comment. The following letter is a typical one:

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been married two years and went to the doctor to see why I have not become pregnant. After examining me, he said I have fibroid tumors of the uterus. I have no pains but do hemorrhage quite a but when I have my period.—Mrs. A.N."

The uterus is an organ made up of muscle and fibroid tissue. Tumors are prone to form in this tissue and are called "fibroids," or "fibroid tumors."

Specifically, they are localized overgrowths of this muscle and fibrous tissue. While the cause is not known, they are decidedly common, and we have learned a great deal about proper treatment of them.

ABOUT 20 per cent of all women over the age of 35 have fibroids to some extent.

When I say "to some extent," I mean that in many cases they produce no symptoms, do no harm, and are best left alone.

There may be just a single fibroid; there may be several; there have been occasional cases discovered in which there were scores of fibroids, but this is rare.

They may be small, or they may become large enough so they cause a swelling of the lower abdomen.

AND THE location is important, too. If fibroids lie close to the inner surface of the uterus, they are most likely to cause symptoms. In about 50 per cent of the cases they will produce excessive menstruation, or sometimes painful menstruation. Likewise in this location they are more likely to prevent pregnancy or make it difficult to carry a baby.

Other fibroids, on the outer surface of the uterus, are less likely to cause difficulty. And the third location, somewhere in the center of the muscle wall, may give no indication of its presence at all unless the fibroids grow to considerable size.

Sometimes, when fibroids reach sufficient size, the patient will discover them herself by noticing a lump in the lower abdomen. More often, however, discovery of fibroids is made by the physician in the course of a pelvic examination, as is the case with Mrs. A.N.

Tomorrow I'll go into the matter of what to do about them.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have several wens in the back of my head. I am 31. Are they dangerous? Do they become tumors? Do you suggest removal?—R.B."

A wen is a sebaceous cyst—that is, an accumulation of material in a sweat gland that has become clogged. They do not become cancerous but they can be a nuisance either from the standpoint of appearance or the risk of becoming infected. If they are large, noticeable, or giving you discomfort, the only treatment is surgical removal, which isn't such a very complicated affair.

"Dear Dr. Molner: We just found out that our daughter, 12 years old, has t.b. of the right kidney and bladder. Her fever is high. Is it possible for her to regain her health or is she doomed?—A.F."

Your daughter is NOT doomed, because of modern treatment for tuberculosis. When we were her age, we would have been.

Afflicted with arthritis? You may find relief if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "Don't Quit Because of Arthritis." To receive your copy, write to me for it in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort
New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Decongestant Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Roaring With Russian

Having lunch with Gregory Ratoff is a little like having lunch with a cataract. There's a roar in the ears afterwards and one feels bruised all over.

JOHN CROSBY

"My life is accursed," he'll shout at you. "When I opened on Broadway in 1930 in 'Wonder Boy,' I played the part of a producer who was —hmm—a thief, a bum, a dirty double crosser, a liar. My friends said 'Hollywood producers will run you clear back to Russia when they see it.' The day after I opened I'm signed to a movie and to play—a producer."

Ratoff became the great producer of every Hollywood film.

"It got so when I walk on a set I say: 'Where's the desk, where's the telephone?' "

-:-

I TOLD HIM I'd seen him in "All About Eve," an old movie I just got around to. His eyes lit up.

" 'All About Eve' — I never saw it. They give me the script, I said: 'Heavy script.' They said: 'You play Max.' I skip through."

Here he made like a man riffing the pages.

"Page 15 I find Max, Max say 'No!' Twenty pages later, I find Max again. He says 'Yes.' Thirty more pages — Max has a whole line: 'You can't do this to me.'

"I tell Joe Mankiewicz, the producer: 'You don't need an actor for this part.' He says: 'I don't want an actor. I want you.' So I'm Max."

For the last 12 years Ratoff has been directing pictures, rather than acting in them. Most of the pictures have been made in Europe where Ratoff now lives with his second wife, an opera singer. In Milan where he lives a call came in one day from CBS.

Come back, said CBS. Why? said Ratoff. Come back and we'll tell you, said CBS.

"SO I COME. It's a television series by Cy Howard with Sam Levene called 'The Wonderful World of Little Julius.' What do they want me for? Of course — the producer."

Ratoff is quite enthusiastic about the series — or at least as enthusiastic as he ever gets about a film in which he has to play a producer.

"It's funny, anyhow," he concedes. "Sam Levene plays an agent who is responsible for all the kids who are stars. He hates the kids because they always grow up. So now he doesn't want kids any more.

"Only he finds this little kid — Eddie Hodges — and sees a gold mine in him. He brings him to me. I am a producer — a dirty, double-crossing, conniving, thieving bum of a producer with a heart of gold.

"That's it, the whole series — the kid, Sam Levene, and me. The only trouble is that Levene loves to rehearse and I don't. He would cut his salary to rehearse. But it's good comedy. It's got heart, real love. I am very pleasantly surprised."

MOST OF THE producers he plays are violent, scheming, low, cunning knaves with hearts of gold. Are they based on any producer in particular? They are, Ratoff will tell you, composities of quite a lot of producers.

He'll admit there's quite a lot of Jed Harris in his characterization. "Whatever you feel personally about Harris, he's a genius, that man!"

As to the kind of character the voluble White Russian plays, perhaps it is best exemplified by a bit from "Wonder Boy":

"I am a dirty, low-down producer, a double crosser, a no-good. I am reading Film Daily where I see that mine own brother has double-crossed me. I scream at my secretary: 'Get on the phone mine own brother, the dirty double crosser.'

"Mine secretary is saying: 'In Hollywood it's only 6 in the morning' and I'm screaming: 'He should sleep, that monster.Get me on the phone that bum, that thief, mine own flesh and blood whom I can't trust any more.'

"So my secretary gets him on the phone and I say 'Hello, Hal. How's Momma?' That's the kind of producer I am. Conniving but funny."

AS FOR THE producer he most admires, Sam Goldwyn certainly would be high on the list.

"He is my own dear friend and a fine man. He is making 'Porgy and Bess.' It will be a monument. And all his own money! Other producers need a bank; only Goldwyn can take eight million dollars out of his back pocket!"

3 Ohio College Students Held in Indiana Holdup

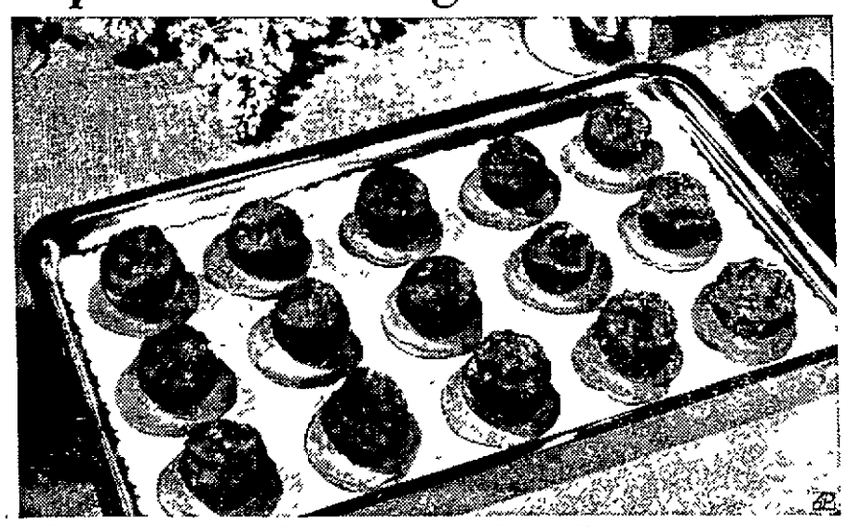
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Charges of armed robbery will be filed against three Ohio college freshmen today in the robbery of a motel near here.

The three are William Haslem, 18, and Robert W. Russell, 20, both of Brecksville, Ohio, and Joseph F. Galucci, 20, of Cleveland. Haslem said he attends Kent State University, Russell Griswold Institute in Cleveland and Galucci John Carroll University.

Police said the youths admitted taking $497 from the motel Saturday night. They were captured 11 minutes after the holdup.

The country of Iraq had the ancient name of Mesopotamia, the Greek word for "Land Between the Rivers."

Surprises Will Delight Dinner Guests



Broiled Mushrooms Stuffed With Deviled Ham Add a Welcome Fillip to Many a Main Dish.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

We've discovered that one way of making sure guests will thoroughly enjoy lunch or supper parties is to add something unexpected to menus.

You don't have to make this an elaborate surprise: simple additions do the trick.

Planning a supper around roast turkey? You may wish to offer sweet potatoes in some form. You may also want a green vegetable and a salad. But if you also add, as we sometimes do, a platter of mushrooms stuffed with deviled ham, you'll find your menu will gain real interest and delight your guests.

These stuffed mushrooms may, of course, be served with other meats. They're delicious with roast veal; they also accompany plain baked fish extremely well. Or they may be used as a first course. If you choose small mushrooms you can place each one on a small round of crunchy melba toast (to give texture contrast) to be eaten out of hand.

The story goes that deviled ham was first packed and preserved in this county in the 1860s. Meats other than ham had been packed plain; when it came ham's turn to be preserved, interesting spices were added and the product has held eater's interest to this day.?

Our notion is that the American deviled ham product stems from the English potted ham that in turn came from the French jambon en terrine. Mrs. Beeton, famous 19th Century English cookery writer, uses lean ham, fat, mace, nutmeg and cayenne in one formula; in another she specifies mace, allspice, nutmeg and pepper for the spicing. These days it's convenient to have ready-prepared canned deviled ham on hand on pantry shelves.

MUSHROOMS STUFFED WITH DEVILED HAM

Ingredients: 15 to 20 mushrooms (1½ to 2 inch caps), 1 can (4½ ounces) deviled ham, 1 very small onion (peeled and very finely minced)), ½ cup Worcestershire sauce, ½ cup fine fresh bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons (about) butter.

Method: Wipe mushrooms with a damp cloth; if necessary cut a thin slice from each stem end and discard; remove stems from caps. Chop stems fine; mix with deviled ham, minced onion, Worcestershire sauce and crumbs. Melt butter in a large skillet until very hot; add mushroom caps, cavity side up, and roll around so outside of caps will be entirely covered with the butter. Fill butter-dipped caps with stuffing, mounding as necessary. Broil slowly — about 15 minutes — until mushroom caps and filling are thoroughly hot and tops are lightly browned.

'Cave of Ice' Superior Novel Of Life in Suburbs of London

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Book Critic

CAVE OF ICE. By Penelope Mortimer. Harcourt, Brace. $3.95. In a suburb so far from London that work keeps the husbands away for long days or even all week, there live the half dozen well-to-do families of which Mrs. Mortimer draws the prickly portraits that give this novel its fascination.

In truth they don't really live, they exist; they are not families, except technically, they are merely family-size groups, a man and wife, or father, mother and children. Under one roof, they are not really related; each follows a lonely path; raises a baby, packs a couple of boys off to school, earns a living as dentist, and gets nothing but perfunctory support from mother, sister, husband, wife.

Ruth and Rex and their daughter Angela are the miserable principals. Ruth's husband nags on weekends and abandons her in between. Angela, 18, dashes off on the back seat of a motorcycle driven by one boy friend or another. Ruth has let this disintegration take place, and all the king's horses and men can't put together again what has broken up. If Ruth is guilty of original sin, Angela, who follows fatefully in her footsteps, is not.

Of all the made-in-England items we see in this country, there is none of such impeccable quality as woman novelists: Ivy Compton-Burnett, the Goddens, Elizabeth Bowen, Elizabeth Taylor; and Mrs. Mortimer belongs by every right in this royal band. There are some very funny pages, but the laughter always has meaning and purpose. She has devised an itchy tangle of incomplete, aborted lives, and the promise of Angela is all the richer for the pettiness of the people, like the father pictured so acidly and the limp mother, from whom she may escape. But Mrs. Mortimer stays away from extremes; there is no villainy, no vileness, but only the mean and shoddy rub of life that takes away the brightness of hope, youth and love. In every way this is superior fiction; it has quality, distinction, wit and elegance.

Ohio's Traffic Toll Down 12 Per Cent in '58

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 1958 traffic death toll dropped 12 per cent below the previous year but J. Grant Keys, director of the Department of Highway Safety still called it a "shameful and terribly costly tragedy."

There were 1,312 deaths on Ohio's highways last year against 2,053 in 1957.

Cuyahoga county led the list of county tolls with 160 deaths; Hamilton and Summit each had 101; Franklin 92; Stark 67; Montgomery 61; Lucas 57, and Mahoning 33. All but Stark and Summit counties showed reductions under their 1957 fatalities.

Keys, who released the report Sunday, said economic loss caused by accidents reached 250 million dollars.

There were 403 pedestrians killed, 30 per cent of them under 15 years of age and 33 per cent over 65.

There were 421 train-motor vehicle accidents, 123 fewer than in 1957.

Larceny Count Dropped

UPPER SANDUSKY—A charge of larceny by trick against Paul F. Beck of Columbus was dismissed in Municipal Court here Friday. The charge, filed by the Wyandot County sheriff's department, was dropped on condition that Mr. Beck make restitution and pay the cost of filing the affidavit.

Blood Drive Falls Short

CRESTLINE — Crestline residents contributed 119 pints of blood Friday during the Red Cross Bloodmobile's first visit here this year. Goal for the drive was 150 pints. The American Legion Auxiliary was in charge.

New Device Detects 'Hot Box' on Speeding Train

Pennsylvania Develops Equipment To Spot Trouble Early

A long-sought way to stop a railroad train automatically when an overheated journal bearing, or "hot box," occurs has been found by the Pennsylvania Railroad and Servo Corp. of America, the railroad announced today.

Detector devices beside the track of the Pennsy's east - west freight line near Norristown, Pa., halt any passing train with a "hot box" by placing the automatic signals ahead of the train in "stop" position. Railroad officials said the development represents significant and noteworthy progress in the techniques of train inspection.

The Pennsylvania's installation near Norristown marks the first time in which such detection devices automatically operate signals to stop trains. The achievement marks a substantial forward step in licking the "hot box" problem, officials said. The system was developed over the past three years by Servo Corp. with the assistance of the Pennsylvania.

THE RAILROAD, basing its decision on the effectiveness of the Norristown installation, has just placed orders for 20 additional detection units for use at other points of heavy traffic density.

According to Herbert M. Phillips, regional manager, Lake Region, in Cleveland, detection units will be installed on the region's main line between Canton and Crestline.

"That is the strategic area of railroad in this region where detection units will contribute most to keeping trains rolling," Mr. Phillips said.

"Traffic moving between Ohio communities and Pittsburg, Chicago and Detroit is concentrated there. In a month we ordinarily move more than 90,000 freight cars over that section of road at speeds of 50 miles per hour."

An infa-red heat - sensitive device, located in the track bed, checks the bearings on passing trains, and if a bearing is found running at a significantly higher than normal heat, a special electric relay automatically sets a signal ahead of the train to stop it before trouble can develop. Heart of the detector itself is an electronic heat measuring cell smaller than a grain of rice and so sensitive it can detect the warmth of a human hand 200 yards away. It will operate accurately with trains passing at speeds up to 60 miles an hour.

A. J. Greenough, vice president, transportation and maintenance, of the Pennsylvania, said: "One problem that had to be overcome in the detector was posed by extremes in air temperature due to seasonal and day-to-day weather changes. Bearings normally run warmer in summer heat than in winter cold, warmer in daylight than at night, and a way had to be found to relate measurements of bearing heat to current air temperatures without adjustment or attention, to avoid false alarms while accurately pinpointing actual 'hot boxes'."

HE SAID THE Servo Corp. equipment accomplishes this by using two heat cells in each detector unit which scan every journal box on passing trains. The average temperature of normal journals is thus established for each train. Any temperature exceeding this norm is instantly detected, sending an impulse by way of the special relay unit to set the signals at "stop" ahead of the train.

The detector also records its findings on graph paper, and activates special indicator lights in a nearby control tower. The lights show the tower operator at a glance on which side of the train a "hot box" has been found and whether there is more than one.

The graph shows each journal bearing on the train as a small "blip" in otherwise straight parallel lines. A "hot box" is recorded as a sharply higher peak, the height reflecting the relative temperature of the bearing. This determines whether the overheating is serious and pinpoints the location of the trouble, saving the time otherwise required to examine all the cars in the train. When a train is halted, the conductor telephones the tower operator, who tells him which car is involved.

"We are pleased with the substantial progress that has been made," Mr. Greenough said.

East Tech Draws Toledo in State Tourney Action

Middletown Faces Salem in Nightcap

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Paul Walker, king of Ohio's scholastic cage coaches, has a tongue-in-cheek doubt his Middletown Middies are good enough to be among the four finalists in this weekend's state tourney.

Paul, wearing a "good luck" suit beginning to show signs of turning green due to age, and limping on a cane due to a knee operation, told both friend and foe at Sunday's drawing:

"We're not within 25 points of anyone in this tournament. But no one from down our way wanted to come to the state meet this year, so we said 'we'll go,'—and here we are. Our coming here just puts Salem into the finals."

Meet in Friday Nightcap

Salem is Middletown's first opponent, at 9 p.m. Friday, following the Cleveland East Tech-Toledo Scott game at 7:30 p.m. In Class A's afternoon games, Salem Local goes against Lynnwood-Jacksontown at 1:30, and defending champion Northwestern plays Edgerton at 3 p.m.

Johnny Cabas, Salem mentor who guided Class B Columbiana's Clippers to the 1947 state title, wasn't taking Walker's sob story too seriously.

John recalled that Walker, between 1947 and 1957, won five state championships at Middletown—as many as any other entire district has won in 36 years. He also cited Paul's state record of 76 straight victories, and noted that his rebuilt Middies have won 21 of 25.

Salem, which gets first crack at Middletown, has a 24-1 record. Its lone loss was by nine points to champion Cleveland East Tech.

John Broski, coach of East Tech which has won 49 straight, wasn't saying much of anything — but practically everyone was conceding him his second straight title. Toledo Scott, 69-66 overtime victor over Columbus East Saturday night, and boasting a 20-4 record, meets the Scarabs in the opener. Veteran Coach Andy Kandik, in his 13th campaign at Scott, had a grim look when he drew Tech as his foe.

Draws Unbeaten Squad

Jack Gill, mentor of the Lynnwood-Jacksontown Class A quintet, must think the fates are against him as he drew his third unbeaten foe in a row. His boys ousted New Boston and Racine in the Athens regional, handing each its first setback, and then he drew Salem Local of Urbana (27-0) the only unsullied team in the division for Friday's fray. Gill's team is 22-4 for the season.

Tournament expenses for each team will include, for 18 persons, $1.50 per mile (one way) travel pay, $2 per meal and $4 per man lodging per day, a $200 bonus for each tourney game played, and Friday's losers may stay over Saturday as association guests.

Both night sessions are sellouts, with all 13,000 seats taken, but a few scattered ducats are available for the afternoon contests. Schools which fail to return unsold tickets by 3 p.m. Thursday will lose $100 expense money.

In all the years since the tournament was inaugurated in 1923, only Bellpoint in 1924-25 and Waterloo's famed Wonders in 1934-35, have been able to repeat as champions of the 601 smaller schools—but Northwestern is favored to turn the trick this time.

In Class AA, where 412 teams make up the field, East Tech could join a select class by repeating. Dayton Stivers won three in a row in 1928-29-30, only team to take it three straight, but Middletown has won it twice in a row three times—in 1946-47, 1952-53 and 1956-57.

Purkey Belted By Braves in 11-5 Reversal

FORT MYER, Fla. (AP)—Moon-faced Bob Purkey, who may be at the peak of his hurling talents, says his pitching success with Cincinnati's Reds has been all a matter of luck.

But fortune scowled at him Sunday.

Milwaukee's Braves knocked him around for five innings, gleefully banging out 11 hits and nine runs before sending him to the showers. The Braves won the exhibition game, 11-5.

Purkey figures better days are coming.

In fact, he said recently: "I think we've got a good chance to dethrone the Braves this season."

The 29-year-old righthander, best Redleg pitcher last season with 17 victories, was the only Rhinelander to beat the league champs more than once.

"We're a cinch to score more runs this year," he said, "and our pitching will be stronger.

"Joe Nuxhall will be better. (Don) Newcombe is a much better pitcher than he showed last season, and Brooks Lawrence should win at least five more games than he did last year.

"The big thing is to avoid injuries. It doesn't seem possible that we can have as many injuries to key men again as we did last year. Somebody always was out."

Burkholder To Address Holmes-Liberty Cagers

BUCYRUS — Bob Burkholder, head basketball coach at Muskingum College in New Concord, will be guest speaker at the Tuesday night athletic banquet for Holmes-Liberty athletes.

Special tribute will be accorded the school's cage squad, which won 18 of 23 games, took the Crawford County tourney championship and shared the Mansfield Sectional crown with Mount Zion.

Presenting awards will be Coach Jimmy Bauer. Sponsoring the fete is the Holmes-Liberty Community Club.

Weekend Fights

Hollywood, Calif. — Charley (Tombstone) Smith, 146, Los Angeles, knocked out Dave Johnson, 146, San Francisco, 10.

Kingston, Jamaica—Ralph Dupas, 145, New Orleans, outpointed Gerald Gray, 145, Jamaica, 10.

Erie Leads In Bowling Event Here

Erie Team No. 2, rolling weekly with the Erie League, wound up with a high score of 2964 in weekend first-round action in the annual Marion Men's City Bowling Tournament.

McMillen Feed of the Commercial loop, took second place in the action on the alleys of the Marion Recreation Center with a 2951. Posting a 2938, good for third, was the Amatuers unit of Mr. and Mrs.

Fourth highs was Central Soya of the Commercialists, registering a 2910, while the Eagles No. 2, Independent lop members, grabbed the fifth spot with a 2902.

Team action will continue tonight through Friday, with doubles and singles play in the tourney slated for Saturday and Sunday.

A total of 80 individuals will go in the doubles and singles play carded for the weekened, with eight doubles events scheduled at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, another eight at 10:15. Three sessions are on tap Sunday, at 11:30, a.m., 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Red Top Beer is the defending team champion with a 3078-pin total for this year's tourney competitors to shoot at. Warren Lutz and Wilbur Burgin hold the doubles title with a 1378, while Don Scott is the singles titlist with a 742. New Yorkers Notch Upsets In NIT Action

NEW YORK (AP) —A pair of unseeded local teams today have the wags around Madison Square Garden talking about the possibility of the first all-New York final in the history of the National Invitational Tournament.

St. John's and New York University suddenly have appeared as equalizers in the 22nd NIT and no one is taking them lightly.

NYU started the ball rolling with its 90-81 victory over Denver Saturday.

"They're the best team I've seen in this tournament," Coach Charley Orsborn of top-seeded Bradley said. His team may have the Violets as a semifinal round opponent, after eliminating Butler 83-77.

NYU plays fourth-seeded Oklahoma City in one quarter-final game Tuesday night while second seeded St. Louis meets Providence a spine-tingling 68-66 winner over Manhattan Saturday.

St. John's took care of third-seeded St. Bonaventure 82-74, with soph Tony Jackson leading the Redmen with 27 points, 17 rebounds and numerous blocked shots.

The Redmen meet the St. Louis-Providence winner in Thursday's other semifinal.

Power Shifts To First Base, Replaces Doby

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An experiment by the Cleveland Indians that had Larry Doby playing first base and Vic Power playing third is being abandoned, for the time being at least.

Power was moved back to first and Randy Jackson played third in Sunday's 5-4 exhibition victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Doby's removal resulted from his inability to hit in exhibition games. In 18 trips to the plate he had only three hits. And Power, one of the best defensive first sackers in the game, has made no attempt to conceal his lack of interest in playing third.

"I still think Doby can play first base," Manager Joe Gordon said, "and in a few days I'm going to try him there again. I'm not giving up on him."

Seeks Spot in Finals

Cincinnati To Duel California in NCAA

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The alphabetical battle for college basketball tournament honors has come down to the NCAA and the NIT with the MVC bidding to approach a feat CCNY accomplished nine years ago.

Before you call in the FBI, let's explain it.

With the National Collegiate and the National Invitation tournaments left from the four scrambles annually winding up the college season, the Missouri Valley Conference is in a good position to nail both.

Cincinnati, the MVC champion, is one of the four semifinalists set for the NCAA wrapup at Louisville's Freedom Hall Friday and Saturday after knocking off Kansas State, the nation's No. 1 team, last Saturday.

Amoung NIT Survivors

Bradley and St. Louis, the two powers that spent the season chasing Cincinnati in the MVC, are among the six survivors in the NIT in New York. Bradley is top-seeded and St. Louis is seeded second, so they could wind up as opponents in the championship game Saturday afternoon.

If the parlay comes off at Louisville and New York, it would rank as a double approximating the grand slam City College of New York scored in the NCAA and NIT in 1950 when teams were permitted to play in both tournaments.

Cincinnati, despite its great Oscar Robertson and its victory over the K-State team voted the nation's best, is no shoo-in. The Bearcats face defense-minded California in Friday's semifinals and the Pacific Coast Conference champions have a 13-game winning streak after bagging the Far West NCAA regional over the weekend.

The other Louisville semifinal sends home-standing Louisville, the tournament giant - killer, against powerful West Virginia from the Southern Conference. Each can play in Cincinnati's class.

The same holds true in the NIT for Bradley and St. Louis. St. Louis goes against slick Providence Tuesday night in a quarter-final test that could be a problem after the way the Friars from New England played in upsetting Manhattan last Saturday.

If the Billikens win that one, they'll face rejuvenated St. John's in Thursday's semifinal that also matches Bradley with Tuesday night's New York U.-Oklahoma City winner.

Wins Third Straight Title

The two big tournaments were left in the basketball spotlight after Tennessee A&I wrapped up its third straight NAIA championship Saturday night in Kansas City and host Evansville won the NCAA small college tourney Friday night. Tennessee A&I rallied in the second half to topple Pacific Lutheran 97-87. Evansville's title came at the expense of Southwest Missouri State, 83-67.

Louisville, with a below .500 record at mid-season, and a mere 16-10 ledger entering NCAA play, had the biggest weekend of the survivors. Saturday night, the Cardinals of Peck Hickman whipped Big 10 champion Michigan State 38-81 in the Mideast finals at Evanston, Ill., after dropping defending NCAA champ Kentucky the night before.

Cincinnati, with Robertson turning in a billiant all-around performance, broke away in the last two minutes to beat Kansas State 35-75 in the Midwest finals at Lawrence, Kan.

West Virginia came from behind for the 14th time in its last 18 games for an 86-82 victory over Boston U. in the Eastern final at Charlotte, N.C.

And California blasted St. Mary's 66-46 in the Far West finals at San Francisco.

Bradley, which drew a first round bye, opened its bid for the NIT title with an 83-77 victory over hard-working Butler. St. John's which kayoed Villanova in the first round, joined Bradley in the semifinals with an 82-74 whipping of St. Bonaventure.

NYU and Providence scored their first round victories Saturday afternoon, NYU over Denver 90-81 and Providence over Manhattan 68-66 on Johnny Egan's 30-foot jump shot with six seconds left.

Oscar Sparks Cincinnati to Semifinal Spot

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Cincinnati goes into the semifinals of the NCAA basketball championship at Louisville, Ky., Friday with a reputation of being a one-man team. But what a man. He's Oscar Robertson.

High scorer, rebounder, feeder, tricky dribbler and master of court strategy is this 6-5 junior from Cincinnati.

Big O, an All-America selection for two straight years, gave a great exhibition of all his skills Saturday as Cincinnati downed Kansas State 85-75 in the finals of the Mid-West regional tournament.

It was sweet revenge for Robertson and his mates. A year ago they were eliminated in overtime 85-83 by Kansas State with Oscar missing two free throws that would

Prospect Juniors Bomb Claridon 47-28 for Title

Prospect added the junior high school tournament title to its 1959 basketball honors Saturday night, sinking Claridon 47-28 in the title game at New Bloomington.

In the consolation contest, Waldo took third place with a 55-23 romp against Meeker.

Prospect managed only a 9-6 lead in the first period but by the halftime intermission had built up a 21-14 edge. The future Bulldogs carried a 29-20 margin into the last quarter.

Three cagers hit in double figures for the winners with Jon Bircham leading the way with 17. Jim Rush and Jim Cornett each scored 12. Pendleton with seven points was high for Claridon.

Three cagers also hit in double figures to help pace Waldo to its rout of Meeker. Blanton pumped in 13 points while Buckingham had 12 and Temple 11. Kennedy with eight was the top scorer for Meeker.

The winners grabbed a 14-6 edge after the first quarter and hiked their margin to 24-14 at the half. The winners went into the last quarter with a 41-17 bulge.

4,000 Watch Globetrotters In Action Here

A crowd of approximately 4,000 persons jammed into the Coliseum Saturday night to watch the Harlem Globetrotters take on and defeat Dante Lavelli's Cleveland Brown all-stars.

It was, according to local sponsors, "an audience that exceeded all expectations."

An added attraction to the Trotter-Lavelli game was an action featuring the Texas Cowgirls and a crew of cagers from the Marion Whirlpool plant.

An exhibition of championship table tennis by titlists from Japan and Great Britain entertained the crowd between games. What's more, a gent from down Texas way exhibited a bit of skill with both a rope and bull whip.

The Trotters, featuring Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, had precious little trouble "defeating" the Lavelli's by a score somewhere in the neighborhood of 69-56. Six of the all-stars' points came late in the third quarter when Preston Carpenter scored a "touchdown" against a leaky Globetrotter defense.

Otherwise, Abe Sapperstein's boys clowned their way through the game as usual, with Chamberlain's scoring easily the most accomplished.

The Cowgirls showed they knew how to "handle" a basketball too, and shaded the Whirlpoolers with virtual ease, although questionable "fouls" were tooted against the losers to give the girls plenty of opportunity at the foul line.

Rain threatened to cut down the night's anticipated crowd, but most of the fans were already in their seats before it began to fall.

The show was a benefit for the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation.

Sheriff's Reports

Ray Kinney of 580 Henry St. reported Saturday night that someone disconnected the clutch in his car and smashed in the right front door and fender. He told deputies the car had been moved from its parking place at the Hi-Way Rollarena on Rt. 30-S between 9:45 and 11:45 p.m.

Church Group To Meet

Women of Prospect Street Methodist Church will be hostesses for the Marion County Council of Church Women's meeting Wednesday afternoon at the church.

Speaker will be the host pastor, the Rev. Ray C. Dotson and time of the program will be 2 o'clock. Mrs. W. E. Miley will preside for business.

Yanks' Larsen Joins Mantle In Injury List

By The Associated Press

Three of major league baseball's top performers today stood ready to testify that play during the exhibition season is just as rugged as during the regular campaign.

Willie Mays, San Francisco outfielder sidelined with a split leg; Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, who spent valuable time on the bench with a shoulder injury, and the Yankees' Don Larsen, latest of spring training's major casulties, all have irrefutable evidence about the perils of play along the Cactus and Grapefruit trail.

Injures Shoulder

Larsen, only pitcher to fashion a perfect game in the World Series, had to quit with a shoulder injury while the St. Louis Cardinals were rippling his pitching for a 10-3 victory over the world champions Sunday.

While throwing to Ken Boyer in the third, Larsen suddenly felt a sharp pain dart in his pitching shoulder. He concluded the inning — in which he gave up six runs — and then retired. It is uncertain how long Larsen will be shelved.

Elsewhere, Cleveland's Indians were taking care of the last undefeated team, edging Boston 5-4. The Red Sox had won seven straight.

In other games, Los Angeles nipped Washington 2-1, Milwaukee thumped Cincinnati 11-5, Philadelphia bombed Pittsburgh 13-8, Baltimore defeated Kansas City 9-6 and Detroit edged Chicago's White Sox 2-1. The San Francisco-Chicago Cub game at Yuma, Ariz., was canceled due to high winds.

Cleveland won in the last of the ninth when Red Sox second baseman Pumpsie Green booted a double play ball, allowing Jimmy Piersall to score with the winning run.

Pair Allows Two Hits

The combined two-hit pitching of Danny McDevitt and Bill Harris gave the Dodgers their seven-inning victory over Washington in a game curtailed by rain.

The Braves won their third game in eight outings with solid clubbing by two supposedly light hitters. Felix Mantilla stroked two doubles and a pair of singles and batted in two runs while Billy Bruton accounted for three RBI's with three hits.

Valmy Thomas' three-run homer and Harry Anderson's four RBI's paced Philadelphia's 15-hit attack against Pittsburgh.

Jerry Walker, 20-year-old Oriole pitcher, limited Kansas City to three hits after taking over in the third while Gus Triandos supplied the winning runs with a three-run homer in the sixth.

Gus Zernial's ninth-inning home run with one aboard ended a two-game losing streak for the Tigers.

Robertson

have given the Bearcats victory in regulation time.

"He is truly great," said Coach Tex Winter of Kansas State of Robertson. "I particularly instructed my boys not to try and double-team him. I knew he would find an open man. But they couldn't resist and look what happened."

Robertson scored only 24 points, some 10 off his pace as the nation's leading scorer. But he came up with 17 of his team's 52 rebounds and handed out 13 assists. Oscar personally engineered the Bearcats' last 10 points as they pulled away in the final two minutes.

Fourteen of Robertson's points came in the first half. At the intermission, Coach George Smith instructed his ace to shoot more. But Oscar disobeyed instructions. There were shots he could have taken and probably made but he chose to set up such mates as Dave Tenwick, Ralph Davis and Mel Landfried.

"What can you say when he does everything right?" asked Smith. "He's truly an All-American."

Japs Still Hold Out

MANILA (AP) — Two Japanese went into the jungle Sunday in an effort to get two World War II holdouts to surrender, but their answer was a volley of shots.

Harney Takes Top Golf Spot At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla., (AP) — Slender Paul Harney, the long hitting professional from Worcester, Mass., accomplished three major objective by winning the $15,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

His superb 19 under par 269 set a tournament record, virtually clinched an invitation to the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga., and assured him of a chance to play in the rich Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

Nationals Rout New York in NBA Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Syracuse is "in" and New York is out in the East, but Detroit still has its foot in the door in the West thanks to Gene Shue.

That's the picture in the National Basketball Assn. playoffs today after Syracuse's 131-115 victory over New York and Detroit's 117-103 triumph over Minneapolis in the semifinal playoffs Sunday.

Syracuse, with Johnny Kerr scoring 34 points, George Yardley 24 and Dolph Schayes 20, closed out New York's first playoff bid in four years in two straight games.

The Nationals will open a best-of-seven series with the Eastern Division champion Boston Celtics at Boston Wednesday night for the Eastern playoff title.

Shue flipped in 32 points as Detroit squared its best of three series with Minneapolis. The rubber match will be played at Minneapolis Wednesday night with the winner moving into a best-of-seven set with St. Louis, the regular season champ of the Western Division.

The Nationals beat New York 129-123 in the series opener last Friday.

The Lakers won the opener of the Detroit series at St. Paul 92-89 Saturday night.

Nicholas Trial Slated To Start

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The trial of Connie B. Nicholas opens today in the slaying of a drug firm executive she says spurned her after 15 years for a younger woman.

Forrest Teel, 54, was shot to death last July in his parked Cadillac.

The state contends Mrs. Nicholas, 42, a divorcee, followed Teel and shot him three times with a small revolver after he returned to his car from a late night visit with the younger woman.

The defense claims the shooting was accidental and occurred during a violent struggle after Teel began beating Mrs. Nicholas.

Mrs. Nicholas told police Teel, executive vice president of Eli Lilly & Co., had promised to divorce his wife, Mary, 48, and marry her when his 14-year-old adopted son finished school. She said they carried on an illicit love affair for 15 years.

Theater Here Packed For Children's Musical

For the second successive year the children's play sponsored by the Junior Service Guild at the Palace Theater Saturday was a complete sellout, Mrs. George Wood, co-chairman, reported today.

The theater was packed with 1,535 youngsters and adults seated. Many others who had not purchased advance tickets were turned away at the door, Mrs. Wood said.

The play, "Rumpelstiltskin," was presented by a group of students from Bowling Green State University. Among the performers was Judy Dickson, a freshman. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dickson of 620 Delaware Ave. She is a 1958 graduate of Harding High School.

Youngsters from the Marion County Children's Home and the special classes in the Marion public school system were guests of the guild for the musical presentation.

Vance Appointed

Kelley R. Vance, president of the Marion Federal Savings and Loan Association, has been appointed to the 1959 investments and mortgage lending committee of the United States Savings and Loan League.

The appointment was announced today by C. R. Mitchell of Kansas City, Missouri, president of the league, which is the nationwide trade organization of the savings and loan business and represents more than 4,550 savings associations and co-operative banks.

Ventriloquist Jimmy Nelson Dedicated to Calling

Performer on TV Visits Here for Shopping Center Show

By JUNE ROSEBERRY

And instead of outgrowing them, he has used them to carry him through 16 years in the entertainment business.

The young ventriloquist, popular with television audiences throughout the country, appeared here during the final day's festivities of the Marion Plaza Shopping Center's grand opening Saturday afternoon.

A showman with a sincere dedication to his work, Jimmy has carved a distinguished career for himself with three puppet personalities, all his inventions.

They are Danny O'Day, who has been with him throughout his career; Farfel, the observant pooch with flapping ears, and Humphrey Higsbye, the staunch Englishman whom Danny calls a "square."

THEIR CREATOR has each puppet buttonholed as a distinct character. "When they get involved in conversation it's always Danny who is the trouble maker. Humphrey acts as the stabilizer and Farfel comes forth with the sage comments," Jimmie explained.

Commenting on his role in the performance of the three characters, their originator declared, "I'm nothing more than a straight man. I don't get any laughs at all."

The entertainer's main purpose is to convince his audience that each of his characters is a personality.

GOOD FOR A LAUGH. Farfel, one of the three characters used by television ventriloquist Jimmy Nelson in a personal appearance here Saturday afternoon at the Marion Plaza Shopping Center, wins the favor of two youngsters in an impromptu chat at the Highway Hotel before the scheduled performance. Reflecting delight at Farfel's witty comments are David Johnson, 5, (left) and his sister, Dianna Johnson, 6, (right). They are children of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of 300 Brentwood Dr. Farfel sits on Jimmy's knee.

While being interviewed during lunch at the Highway Hotel Saturday noon, Jimmy confided that he got so wrapped up in the threesome during a Las Vegas show once that not only the audience, but he, was convinced that Danny was real.

"I actually waited for Danny to say a line, and then suddenly realized that he couldn't speak without my voice, much to my embarrassment," he declared.

Asked when he got his big break in the entertainment business, Jimmy pondered the question and then answered: "These days you don't get one big break. You start, step up and take another step on the way to success."

LOOKING BACK on his career he considers his appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show as "the starter." A big step up, Jimmy continued, was doing commercials on the Milton Berle Show two years. He currently appears on television as a spokesman for the Nestle Co.

Jimmy is now developing a fourth puppet character — a distinguished Egyptian cat he will name Ftateteeta. "Her voice," he declared, "will sound much like a female Ed Wynn."

As is true with all his puppets, he develops the voice first, and then the character to fit it.

The ventriloquist admits that having four voices beside his own can be quite tricky, especially when his mouth movements should hide the fact. "The job is especially challenging when the television camera is five inches away from your mouth," Jimmy pointed out.

An ambitious young performer, he appears not only on television, and in night clubs, but on road tours as well. He especially likes shopping center visits, for as he termed it, "you have much more contact with your audience than in other types of engagements."

Even though his audiences take in both children and adults, Jimmy finds youngsters give him the greatest satisfaction. But he hastened to add that "children can be a brutal audience if they do not accept you."

THE ENTERTAINER'S obvious sincerity and fondness for children, combined with his winning humor, give him top billing with the younger set, however.

Jimmy's visit to Marion was a brief one. He arrived shortly before his shopping center show and then returned to Columbus to fly back to his family in Long Island, N.Y., Saturday night.

Asked why the haste in returning east, Jimmy explained that he, Farfel and Danny were to have a recording engagement Sunday. They are taping their first album, a modernized version of "Peter and the Wolf."

He cited his three sons as a valuable trial audience, not only for "Peter and the Wolf," but the many acts he does with his wood-carved sidekicks.

Jimmy noted that one of his 10-year-old twin sons seems to be developing an interest in ventriloquism. "But I'm not discouraging or encouraging him," the father said. "If you really want to be a ventriloquist, the desire has to come from within you."

The entertainer and his three characters were met at the Columbus Airport by Bill Spotts, public relations director of William Cafaro and Associates, owners of the Marion Plaza Shopping Center, and Russell McBride, manager of the plaza Kroger Store.

Chides Delegates

OMAHA (AP)—John Ashbrook of Johnstown, Ohio, national chairman of the Young Republican Federation, points out that Democrats now have 20 U.S. senators under 50 years old while Republicans have but one. He chided delegates to the federation's 14-state Midwest Council meeting here Saturday for falling behind Democrats in not qualifying more younger candidates for major offices.

Vast Sum Stolen From Union

Big Racket Operator Is Financed by Hoffa Loan

By VICTOR RIESEL

A self-confessed crook by the name of Eugene James really got started in the easy labor money business by borrowing some $2,500 from Jim Hoffa and friend to launch a juke box local. Then by carefully stealing from the poor and giving it to the nouveau riche — namely himself — Brother James did so well that he was able to say in a federal court in Chicago the other day that he had embezzled almost three-quarters of a million dollars from a union pension and welfare fund.

VICTOR RIESEL

Gene James, now an official of the independent Laundry Workers International Union (not to be confused with the Amalgamated Laundry Workers Joint Board) is on trial on charges of income tax evasion. Through his lawyer, James argued that he evaded no payments on taxable income. He said he merely embezzled the three-quarters of a million dollars.

He didn't have to work for the money. He said he stole it. So it was not "income." Thus he claimed he did not violate the federal tax laws. Or any other federal laws, for that matter, since it isn't against the U.S. codes yet to steal from a union.

THIS MONEY was stolen over a 10-year period — from funds which should have covered $35 to $50-a-week working men and women who sweat the days out in scalding, steam-filled laundry rooms, working their hands, sometimes to the bones, in chemically treated waters to keep us all looking so neat on the main stems of America.

Jim Hoffa is in Chicago for a fortnight discussing the wages and working conditions of hundreds of thousands of "over the road" truck drivers. He might trot over to the federal court and muse a bit about his erstwhile friend's betrayal of the working class over which Brother Hoffa announces regularly he suffers so much.

Mr. Hoffa has testified that he and a friend lent Gene James some $2,500 in "personal money" to start Teamster Local 985, a Detroit juke box unit you'll soon be hearing about when the McClellan committee resumes hearings.

The local did right well because soon Brother James was out and a friend of Mr. Hoffa's by the name of William Bufalino took over. So James headed for Chicago — still drawing his salary from the Detroit local.

Why? Because no one knew how things would work out for Brother James in Chicago, Hoffa has testified. Soon James got himself placed in the Laundry Union. So he dropped off the Teamster payroll.

THIS LAUNDRY UNION kept James traveling — to Miami, for example. According to the McClellan committee chief counsel Bob Kennedy, James attempted to unionize some of the laundry owners there.

"According to the information and testimony given before a grand jury in a trial down in Florida by Mr. Newbold, Mr. Newbold was hired by people associated with Mr. James... whom Mr. Newbold met down there and by whom Mr. Newbold was hired to kill and shoot one of the laundry operators with whom the union was having difficulty," Kennedy told his committee.

"Newbold did not do that. And some of Mr. James' ... colleagues took Mr. Newbold out and put five bullets in him and tried to run him over in a car and then threw him in a ditch. Mr. Newbold lived through all this and came back and testified," Kennedy also said.

ON JAMES' RETURN from Florida he was promoted. He became national secretary-treasurer of the Laundry Workers. Now there's a post for a self-confessed embezzler. The federal records are full of statements that he stole at least $900,000.

So on Sept. 26, 1957, he was on the McClellan committee hot seat and was asked:

"Mr. James, do you consider a dues-paying working man or woman who is a member of the union of which you are an official — do you consider such an individual a sucker to be fleeced or a human being to be served?"

Eugene James literally replied that any answer he gave would tend to incriminate him. Yet James still is a power in the Laundry Workers. He still holds office in the big Local 46.

Who says we do not need new federal anti-racketeering labor laws?

Hinckley's Buzzards Return On March 15 for 26th Year

CLEVELAND (AP)—The little town of Hinckley, southwest of Cleveland, thinks a lot of its vultures, and apparently the turkey vultures think a lot of Hinckley

Or more particularly of Hinckley Lake. They have been returning to roost in tall elms on the shore of the lake for as long as people around there can remember.

For the last 26 years, the Cleveland Metropolitan Park Board has had someone check on the block of buzzards—as they are called at Hinckley—and every year the birds have arrived on March 15.

Sunday at least 25 big vultures —their wingspans range up to 5½ feet—swooped down out of a windy March sky right on schedule.

As people who are up on their vulture culture know, this sort of thing is happening all over North America.

Harold G. Lamm, curator of birds at the Cleveland Zoological Park, said there probably are millions of the big birds around. They winter from South America to Georgia; depending on where they spend their summers, and they are very punctual, rarely varying their spring arrival schedules.

You don't see much of them because they shy away from populated areas. As a matter of fact, vultures don't seem to care for any living things, except possibly other vultures. They feed entirely on dead creatures.

Ed Spatz, head of the Hinckley Chamber of Commerce, said plans are afoot to buy up dead animals to feed the buzzards so the block —he believes there are 70 altogether—won't move elsewhere.

And Sunday, three vultures will be guests of honor at Hinckley's Buzzard Day. Since the vultures can't be enticed to appear on their own, and since it's illegal to do one in, the C of C is borrowing three vultures from the Cleveland Zoo.

If the program sounds as though it's strictly for the birds, it's not. People flock to Hinckley to try to spot the soaring buzzards and to partake of the local hospitality.
